

Patron Code of Conduct

As a civic resource, the McKenzie County Public Library (MCPL) aims to provide equitable access to resources and opportunities so that residents can learn, meet, share, read, play, and create. Patrons are asked to observe the following rules of conduct to ensure the rights and safety of MCPL patrons and staff and to preserve and protect MCPL materials and facilities. Parents, guardians, or designated caregivers are responsible for the actions of minors under their care while interacting with MCPL property or programs per the Unattended Children Policy.

The following list is not exhaustive. Inappropriate behavior not specifically identified in this policy may be identified at the discretion of library staff on duty with the Library Director reserving the right to make further exceptions on a case-by-case basis. The MCPL and its staff are not responsible for lost, stolen, or the condition of personal property brought onto the premises.

Patrons who violate any of these guidelines will be given notice of this policy. A violation may result in a patron's expulsion from the MCPL, suspension of MCPL privileges, criminal prosecution, or other legal action as appropriate. An individual who is banned from the library may be charged with trespassing if they return to library property during the term of the ban. Any individual who is banned and whose MCPL privileges have been revoked may appeal that decision by submitting a written request to the Library Director and the McKenzie County Public Library Board of Directors within thirty (30) days of the alleged offense.
